Roswell's American Newspaper Directory for 1891 puts the circulation of THE ROANOKE TIMES above that of any other paper in Southwest Virginia, and at more than that of all the other papers of Roanoke combined.

ROANOKE, VA., AUGUST 27, 1891.

NOTHING LIKE SUCCESS.

The business men of Roanoke always grasp a good thing. They know a good thing when they see it. They are quick at conclusions. When they have had the object of THE TIMES Business Directory on the fifth page explained they have readily agreed and thought it a good way of advertising. Now is the time to add your name to the Directory where your business will be kept before the public daily. If a representative fails to call upon you telephone or call at the office and place a card in the Directory at once.

OUR VISITORS.

The Juniata Valley Editorial Association has been entertained another day by the citizens of Roanoke. To-day they leave us, but they leave this growing section more closely bound to the fertile region from which they hail. We have learned from them that they are searching for accurate information about us, and we have the satisfaction of knowing that their search has not been in vain.

They have learned much that will be of lasting value to them in the pursuit of their profession, and will not be disappointed in the hope of deriving benefit from their visit.

THE TIMES can assure all of the visitors that their presence in this city has been most pleasing and agreeable, and the fact that they have been entertained and have enjoyed their stay in our midst is no less gratifying to the people of Roanoke than to themselves. The pleasure of the occasion has been reciprocal, and it is with reluctance that we say good-bye, hoping that the Juniata Valley Editorial Association will not forget Roanoke when it is ready for another outing, with the assurance that the latch string always hangs on the outside and a warm welcome is awaiting within.

NORTH CAROLINA'S CALAMITY.

The terrible railroad disaster near Statesville yesterday was one of the most disastrous in the history of the North Carolina railroads.

The Western North Carolina, winding through the Blue Ridge to Asheville, is one of the most remarkable pieces of railroad engineering in the country. Notwithstanding the fact that it is apparently a perilous road by reason of its sharp grades and curves, fatal accidents have been unusual occurrences.

The disaster of yesterday was caused by the spreading of the rails, a forcible argument in favor of a more careful care of railroad tracks, especially during seasons of unusual rainfall.

It would hardly be an exaggeration to say that the prime cause of four-fifths of the railroad accidents in mountainous regions, and especially in Western North Carolina, is excessive fall of rain.

SEVERAL North Carolina papers favor Hon. William L. Wilson, of West Virginia, for speaker for the House of Representatives. Congressman Wilson is a man of acknowledged activity and is a scholarly gentleman. No doubt he would make an admirable presiding officer, but evidently Crisp is the man who will "get there."

Who will organize an expedition to explore the cave under Hotel Roanoke, the opening to which was filled up yesterday to make a street passable? There are many evidences of the existence of caves in this vicinity, and who knows but that a little exploration would reveal caverns rivaling those at Shendun and Luray?

ARMY TAKEN TO JAIL.

Recognized as George H. Abbott by the Attorney Who Defended Him.

MANCHESTER, N. H., Aug. 27.—Abbott, the Warden murderer, has arrived here and been placed in jail. At the various stations between West Lebanon and this city numbers of people boarded the train and endeavored to get a glimpse of the prisoner as he lay on his cot in the special car. Admittance to the car was denied them, and they were forced to content with what they could see through the doors and windows. In the car were, besides the murderer, Sheriff Brigham and deputies and several newspaper men. At Canaan the Hon. George W. Murray, who defended Abbott at his trial for the burglaries in Vermont, passed through the car and immediately recognized the prisoner as his former client.

On arrival of the train at Concord a crowd only about twice as large as usually meets the trains was in waiting at the station. The numbers rapidly grew to such proportions, however, that the car was run into the upper part of the yard to await the making up of the train for Manchester. Warden Pillsbury, of the State Prison, came into the car here, and taking the prisoner by the hand, said: "How do you do, Abbott?"

Abbott replied: "I do not know you." At Concord, for the first time since he was taken to the Wheelock House in Havana, the prisoner appeared disturbed by the presence of the crowd. His breathing was rapid and he drew the sheet over his face to prevent being seen.

He regained his composure before reaching Manchester and seemed concerned about his appearance. He inquired several times after leaving Concord how near they were to Manchester, and as that city was approached the agitation showed at Concord was again manifested. When the train stopped and he heard the buzz of voices in the large crowd he again buried his face under the sheet and held it tightly until the vehicle conveying him to the jail drove away.

Officer Foster, who lives near the Warden farm, was the last to approach him. The prisoner grasped Foster's hand firmly, and, as he said "Good-bye," burst into tears.

A PANIC IN A STORM.

Several People Killed by Lightning, and Several Seriously Schooled.

VIENNA, Aug. 27.—[Special]—A terrible thunder storm swept over Trieste district, causing several fatalities. Lightning struck a church at Quab's, on the Italian frontier, while the building was crowded with women. Fearful scene and panic followed, the women and children shrieking and praying on their knees or else rushing wildly for the church doors. The priest celebrating mass acted in a most praiseworthy and courageous manner and vigorously reassuring the terrified women, succeeded in restoring order. Subsequently, it was found three women supposed to have fainted from fright, had actually been killed by lightning which struck the church. At Pian a hunting party was struck by lightning during the progress of the storm and one of the party was killed on the street and four others practically paralyzed by the electric shock sustained.

Brothers in Jail and Leeds Dying.

MAY'S LANDING, Aug. 27.—John Brothers, the Camden policeman, who assaulted Lewis M. Leeds, a prominent Philadelphia, in an Atlantic City hotel some time ago, was to-day committed to jail without bail to await the result of the latter's injuries. Leeds, who was taken to a Philadelphia hospital, is reported to be dying. Leeds entered the hotel, and, on being refused drinks, became abusive. He was struck by Brothers and fell to the floor. Brothers made his escape, but was arrested in Philadelphia.

The Democrats of Montgomery county yesterday nominated J. T. Lawrence, of Radford, for the House of Delegates. Resolutions indorsing the Democratic platform of 1888 and 1890, also the Farmers' Alliance platform at Lynchburg, were unanimously approved.

FIGHTING IN CHILI.

The Government Causes the Insurgents to Surrender.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 27.—[Special]—Senor Lazcano, Chilean minister at Washington, to-day received a cablegram, dated Valparaiso, August 26, from M. M. Aldunate, minister of foreign affairs, saying that on the 25th the insurgent army was completely defeated in Viva del Mar. A division of the Chilean government army cut off their retreat to ships and obliged them to surrender unconditionally. All the country, the dispatch adds, applauds the valor and skill of the government army.

Julio Foster, secretary of the Chilean congressional delegates, said that he had received no information of the surrender of the congressional army, as reported in the previous dispatch. From his conversation, however, it was apparent that he believed the report to be true. Secretary Foster received a dispatch last night, however, that may have some relation to the report received by the Chilean minister. It was from Errazuriz, the congressional minister of foreign affairs at Iquique, and said that the notices inspired by the dictator's agent at Lima, Peru, were absolutely without authority.

Foster did not know the nature of the notices referred to, but he thought they might be similar to that indicated in the dispatch received by the Chilean minister. Speaking further of the matter Mr. Foster said that the attempts of the congressional army to obtain a foothold in the country occupied by Balmaceda troops were very desperate and rash but that such a course had been repeatedly urged upon the leaders of the army by many persons of wealth living in Valparaiso who sympathized with the revolutionary cause, and by many who had been furnishing money to aid the congressional army.

Nothing has been received either at the State or Navy Departments of the reported surrender of the Chilean congressional army on Tuesday at Viva del Mar. Admiral Brown, commander of the Pacific squadron who is now representing the United States in Chilean waters, was at Coquimbo at the date of the latest mail advices received at the department. This place is a considerable distance above the district where the fighting of the past few days has been going on, yet it is in the vicinity of the congressional government's headquarters. It is thought, therefore, that such important news should have reached here, if not through official sources, at least by rumor, and it is, of course, supposed that he would hasten to report to Department Minister Eagan at Santiago.

He has had very little to communicate recently to the department concerning the trouble in Chili, but an event of such importance as the surrender of the congressional army, it is thought would have been telegraphed promptly to the department. But, notwithstanding non-receipt of any news except through the Chilean minister, with respect to matter, it is generally believed in official and unofficial circles that the report of surrender is true.

FIGHTING RENEWED.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 27.—[Special]—Antonio Narres, envoy of the Chilean insurgents, yesterday received a cablegram from Valparaiso via Washington, D. C., that fighting had been renewed that morning, and that Balmaceda was losing.

KIEL, Aug. 27.—[Special]—The authorities at this port have received instructions from the imperial government in regard to the Chilean warship Presidente Pinto, and have taken measures to prevent that vessel from shipping arms, ammunition or crew in these waters.

Four Herds of Buffalo in Colorado.

DENVER, Aug. 27.—State Game Warden Land has just returned from a tour of inspection, and he complains that the game laws are very little observed in certain localities. He has learned that there are about fifty buffaloes now running wild in the State. One of the bunches is in Middle Park. Another, and probably the largest, numbering about twenty, is in the Kenosha range, while still a third, of about fifteen head, near Hahn's Peak, in Rout county. The fourth is about the same size as that in Middle Park, and is at Delores. In spite of the scarcity of buffalo and the stringent laws passed by the legislature for their protection one man recently killed five of them for their hides.

Not so Poor as He Seemed.

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 27.—Edward Baker, an old citizen of St. Louis county, died at his home two weeks ago, apparently in destitute circumstances. A few days ago some of his relatives were cleaning up the house, in which he died, for the purpose of occupying it and discovered an old trunk containing $17,000, of which $12,000 was in greenbacks and $5,000 in gold and silver. He left a widow and three children, none of whom suspected his having the money. He was a farmer and was very miserly.

Three Killed in a Street Fight.

LEXINGTON, Ky., Aug. 27.—[Special]—The following is from a Transcript special: In Georgetown to-day Milton Kennel and his four sons engaged in a street fight with other parties, and in the affair A. J. Montgomery and two brothers named Jarvis were killed. The peace officers of Georgetown are all in Lexington attending a fair and the Kennel's father and sons, surprised the town. The wildest excitement prevails.

	$10,730,331.21

The Thirty-first Annual Statement of THE WASHINGTON is a strong one and has this remarkable feature—it shows the bond and mortgage investments to be $8.21 per cent. of the total assets.

These mortgages, amounting to $8,978,992.92, nearly $9,000,000, an increase during the year of $741,600, are first liens on real estate valued at $17,500,000.

"Prudent and far-sighted investors will make no mistake in exercising the most scrupulous care in their investigations of the character and relative amount of the invested funds and credits held by the different companies in which they are invited to insure their lives for the benefit of their families or as a profitable and secure provision for personal support in old age."

"We are justified in saying . . . that no securities are so stable and safe for the investment of a life insurance company as well-selected bonds and mortgages, and that from no other sound securities can so large a rate of interest be realized."

The strength of THE WASHINGTON lies in its conservative management. The flurry in Wall street has not affected its securities in the faintest degree. In times of general depreciation in investments, success is felt by the holders of its policies, whatever may be the effect on other similar institutions.

The Company's income in 1890 for premiums, interest, etc., was $2,555,444.05, and its assets at the close of the year were $10,730,331.21, a gain during the year of $716,963.

The sums paid to policy-holders since organization, together with the invested assets held for the protection of policies, aggregate more than $20,000,000.

The various items comprising the assets of the company are taken at their intrinsic worth, are not held in the hope of a possible rise, nor are they of a character liable to fall suddenly below their standard value. The substantial nature of its invested funds, its settled methods in the line of careful and economical management, and the abiding and controlling determination to make the Policy-holders' Company, render it easily demonstrable that THE WASHINGTON, though not the largest, IS THE BEST COMPANY.

The leading attractive feature of any MONETARY INSTITUTION is its ROCK-BOTTOM, TIME-TRIED, ABSOLUTE SECURITY offered to its patrons. THE PRUDENT FINANCIER will always inquire about SECURITY FIRST and PROFIT afterwards. There is the PERFECT EXEMPLIFICATION of this BUSINESS WISDOM set forth in the THIRTY-FIRST Annual Statement of the WASHINGTON LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY OF NEW YORK. THAT TO FURNISH ABSOLUTE PROTECTION TO ITS PATRONS. SHOULD BE THE CHIEF AIM AND INEXCHANGIBLE PURPOSE OF ANY MONETARY INSTITUTION, and with nearly $10,000,000 held in trust by this Company for its THOUSANDS of confiding policy-holders 50 PER CENT. OF THE WHOLE IS loaned on BOND AND MORTGAGE, secured by REAL ESTATE WORTH DOUBLE THE AMOUNT LOANED.

THERE IS NOT ONE LIFE Insurance Company in the United States THAT EQUALS this showing of solidity, and BUT ONE that approximates it.

This statement is not intended to reflect in the least on other good Life Insurance Companies in the country. You are fortunate to be insured in any of them, but there is a DIFFERENCE IN GOOD COMPANIES, and we are pointing out to you IN WHAT THAT DIFFERENCE CONSISTS and just where to find the BEST.

There will always be delusive schemes to catch the unwary; everything of value usually has a counterfeit. Glistening POSSIBILITIES are often presented by reputable business institutions as POSSIBILITIES; but if you want a Policy of Life or Endowment Insurance that is free from technicalities and expenses in definite terms just what it means, make application to the good old WASHINGTON LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY OF NEW YORK—the company which is known as the "Widows' and Orphans' Friend" and the Company which has paid through its Suffolk Agency thousands of dollars in this section; the company which has never had a contested claim or lawsuit in the United States.
